WORKING IN GERMANY: ISE-FIT-NORDWEST

You are studying in Germany?
Interested in working and staying here?

As part of the FIT-programme, the University of Applied Sciences Emden support international students seeking a degree in Germany with additional services at the start of their studies, during their studies and during their transition into the German labour market. One focus is on career-related counselling and support. The promotion of networking between universities, companies and business-related institutions is also intended to facilitate the transition into the German labour market for international graduates.
